

A TIE OF TWELVE INNINGS.

A Great Game Between the Camden and Stockton Teams.

There was lots of excitement at the ball park in Stockton, just outside of Camden, yesterday when the town's representative team and the Camden nine met in the second game of a series for a bet of $200 made by two politicians. The teams have met once before when Camden lost because the players thought Stockton was easy game. Yesterday Stockton was determined to win, and hired several South Jersey League and other professional players to help them out. The game developed into a pretty battle between Stecker and Black, of Clayton, and the Camden man had the best of it when darkness stopped the game in the twelfth inning. The features were Matthews' terrific drive for a home run and three great running catches by Nield. The score:
